This report has been made possible through the financial support of the Investment Agriculture Foundation of BC, the Peace River Agricultural Development fund, and the BC Peace River Grain Industry Development Council. It is produced without bias and is reported to the best of our ability from data collected from two research sites, Fort St. John and Dawson Creek, BC, between 2002-2006 inclusive. Common scientific protocol and common regional agricultural practices were used to produce results displayed herein. However, results should be used only as a guide as situations may vary from farm to farm.
